Clergy discipline and terms of service legal protection

The church and life in general doesn't always go as expected, so there's comfort in knowing we've got you covered should you ever find yourself involved in a dispute relating to your occupation. Clergy discipline and terms of service legal protection helps you to navigate the often difficult journey through legal issues and covers the associated legal costs.

This policy provides legal protection for proceedings under the Clergy Discipline Measure 2003. If you hold Common Tenure under the Ecclesiastical Offices (Terms of Service) Measure 2009, it also provides legal expenses cover in relation to any disputes, inquiries or grievances under this Measure. If you are a member of clergy in the Church in Wales, it provides legal protection for the equivalent proceedings under the Church in Wales Constitution or the clergy handbook.

The premium is £25 per year (plus Insurance Premium Tax). Please note, terms and conditions apply.

What is covered?

To ensure an expert service, the cover under this policy has been arranged through DAS Legal Expenses Insurance Company Limited (DAS).

Up to £250,000 to cover costs and expenses to:

- Help provide a formal written response to a complaint made against you under the Clergy Discipline Measure 2003 or the Church in Wales Constitution (limited to £1,000 + VAT)
- Represent you at a hearing before a disciplinary tribunal or the Vicar General's Court
- Appeal against a finding and/or penalty following the hearing
- Represent you in a dispute concerning your terms and conditions of service
- In addition, you have access to a range of telephone helplines

To find out more, call

0345 777 3322 (ref CX22)

Please note: This policy has been specifically designed for individual clergy members and this cover is not provided by our Church insurance products and is typically not provided under a household legal expenses policy.

Benefact Trust funds projects that tackle social issues such as homelessness, poverty and social exclusion; and the repair and restoration of places of Christian worship where changes support wider community use. The Trust's funds come from the available profits of Benefact Group.

Since 2014, our owners, Benefact Trust, have donated over £100 million to churches and Christian charities.
